INDICTMENT

COUNT ONE

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES THAT:

The Union

At all times material to this indictment:

1. The American Federation of Government Employees ("AFGE"), Local Union #1793 ("Local 1793" or "the union") was a "labor organization" as defined by the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978. Local 1793 had over 300 members, all of whom were federal employees working in technical, clerical, maintenance and support positions at the Veterans Administration Medical Center ("VAMC") at University and Woodland Avenues in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. All members of Local 1793 paid dues, which were deducted from their paychecks. The Local 1793 offices were located at the VAMC in Philadelphia, which is within the special territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

2. Local 1793 was subject to the Constitution of the AFGE, as well as its own bylaws. The Local 1793 bylaws provided for officers to be elected, including the positions of president, secretary/treasurer, several vice presidents,, and a sergeant at arms. These elected officers constituted the Executive Board or Committee.

3. Under the Local 1793 bylaws, the president's fiduciary duties included serving as the executive officer of Local 1793, presiding at all Local 1793 meetings, planning and pursuing policies to promote the welfare of Local 1793, signing all documents pertaining to the office of president, and counter-signing all checks for Local 1793 expenses.

4. Under the Local 1793 bylaws, the treasurer's fiduciary duties included making financial reports at the regular meetings of Local 1793, receiving all monies and dues paid into Local 1793, properly recording and accounting for all receipts, checks, and cash disbursements, keeping the financial records of Local 1793 under lock and key, depositing money into the bank account of Local 1793, and signing all checks for Local 1793 expenses.

5. Under the Local 1793 bylaws, payment of bills by the treasurer were to be authorized by Local 1793 and expenditures by the Executive Committee (the elected officers) in excess of $500 were to be approved by the Local 1793 membership.

6. Local 1793 derived its operating funds almost exclusively from dues check-off checks mailed every two weeks from the Veterans Administration Finance Center to Local 1793's offices at the VAMC in Philadelphia. These dues check-off checks represented the dues deducted from the members' paychecks.

7. Local 1793 maintained a business checking account at First Union National Bank.

8. On or about April 10, 1995, Local 1793 opened a Shop Stewards account at the VA Federal Credit Union, which had its business office on the same floor as the office of Local 1793 at the VAMC. The Local 1793 union stewards raised money for that account for union steward training and education.

9. In or about June 2000, the Shop Stewards account that was opened in 1995 was closed, and another Shop Stewards account was opened at the VA Federal Credit Union.
